Inadequate Bus Schedules Topic Next C. C. Meet

J. B. Held, president and general manager of the Peerless Stage, Inc., will be present at next Tuesday's regular meeting of the chamber of commerce, in charge of President Herbert M. Shadle, and will discuss with interested representative from Campbell, Los Gatos, and Saratoga the reasons for the present schedule of busses serving the three towns.

The present bus service, which is somewhat ineffective, affects conditions in all of these towns, and the civic leaders in Saratoga and Los Gatos have been invited by Dan Yeager, secretary,to join with Campbell in a discussion of the problem.

It is hoped that, with the cooperation of bus company officials, a more complete schedule may be evolved, orthat a willing acceptance of present conditions may be obtained.

Since the abondonment of the two daily trains between San Jose and Santa Cruz, routed through Campbell and Los Gatos, and the elimination of the Peninsular railway system, the bus company furnishes the only available method of transportation for citizens of this district, and has a monopoly, except in the Saratoga region.

In Saratoga the Peerless stage company is hampered by the fact that t he Greyhound line, which runs a Santa Cruz stage through Saratoga and Los Gatos, has a franchise for the territory between Saratoga and Los Gatos and will not allow stops by the Peerless stages between those two points. Sincethe Peerles stages also transport Saratoga and Los Gatos children to school, they are forced to keep idle the four busses which they use but twice a day for othese school children. This expensive process has in a measure forced the present inadequate schedule on the rest of the Campbell, Saratoga and Los Gatos line.

Immense Gold Shipment Reaches San Francisco

San Francisco, March 29—Particular interest has been aroused in shipping and financial circles by the arrival in port Tuesday, on the President Coolidge, of $518,460 in gold.

The shipment was consigned to the American Trust company for the account of a Hong Kong correspondent.

P. A. Kinnoch, vice president in charge of the foreign department of the American Trust company, states that to the best of his knowledge this is the first gold shipment of any consequence to arrive on the Pacific coast from foreign ports since the declaration of the American embargo on gold exports.

Guild To Hold Thrift Sale Here On April 8th

The Congregational Guild group 1 under the leadership of Mrs. Baum, acting president, will hold a thrift sale, Saturday, April 8 in the store fromerly occupied by the Press.

"Dud" De Groot To Speak Here Sunday Night

Dudley DeGroot, football coach of San Jose State college, will be the featured speaker at the next Sunday evening service at the Congregational church, which begins at 7:45 p.m.

The success of the team coached by "Dud" DeGroot last fall proved the football mentor's powers as a man and an athlete. The meeting Sunday night will prove his ability as a speaker. Every young man in town who is interested in athletics or in "Dud" DeGroot is cordially invited to come around to the Congregational church Sunday.

The meeting is one of a series sponsored by the college group of the Christian Endeavor. Supporting them next Sunday will be the Sea Scouts and the Boy Scouts of the vicinity. There will be special choruses and solos.

Saratoga Blossom Festival Starts at 2 O'clock Saturday

Spring will be officially welcomed to Santa Clara valley this Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock when the thirty-fourth annual blossom festival is celebrated at Saratoga under the auspices of the Saratoga Men's club.

The afternoon's program will include a program by the San Jose Municipal band (A. F. & M. Local 153), conducted by Will H. Lake, and a festival ballet directed by Vivian Amet Johnston.

Numbers to be given by the band will include Losey's "Fruhlingslied," "Forge in the Forest" by Michaelis, and excerpts from "Springtime" by Friml.

"Spring Song," Vivian Amet Johnston's original ballet, concerns the fortunes of a band of gypsies who capture Marigold, a little golden-haired child. Jaga, seventh daughter of a seventh daughter and therefore a magical gypsy crone, has stolen the little girl, but the gypsy dancers and children comfort her. Skabootch, played by Betty Jean Jurras, stops Marigold's tears by dancing for her. The rescue of the child by three clever maidens furnishes a thrilling end to the little drama.

Frederick J. Wessels is director and chairman of Saratoga's 34th festival, and is assisted by Dr. Louis Mendellsohn, Harry E. Smith and Burt W. Lyon.

CAMPBELL MASONS, FRIENDS, ENJOY LADIES' NIGHT

Campbell Masons were hosts to their ladies and to visitors from lodges in the local district at a Masonic Ladies' night held Monday in the Community hall.

A program, arranged by the 1932 worshipful masters of the district entertained the guests. Dances were given by pupils of Vaudine Putnam Saunders and Ruth Adele Roberts. Several numbers were played by the high school orchestra.

Cards and dancing occupied the Masons and their friends during the latter part of the evening, after which refreshments were served.

INFLATION NOT NEEDED, SAYS WM. POYTRESS

Dr. William Poytress, head of San Jose State college economics department, gave an instructive talk on "present conditions" before the Kiwanis club Tuesday.

Although when he talked at the local club several years ago he was "sanely pessimistic" on the trend of affairs, yesterday he was "sanely optimistic."

He stated that inflation is not wanted or needed. Expansion is the necessity and the way to expand is to make the dollar work by putting men to work. There is plenty of money but most of it is dead and needs revitalizing.

Under the normal conditions the average turnover of the American dollar is thirty times. Recently it has been less.

Hugh-dini Cramer will be the April fooler at next meeting and Hal Morton will direct the parade.

BUD DE SELLE ESCAPES INJURY IN AUTO WRECK

Raymond (Bud) DeSelle, driving to the Rinconada golf course, in an attempt to miss running over a small dog, hit an electric light pole on the Santa Cruz road this noon.

He escaped unhurt, but the car was damaged, and the pole was tipped and the main wire broken, causing the current in Campbell and vicinity to be automatocally shut off. However, P. G. & E. men rushed to therescue and lights and appliances soon functioned again.

LOCAL PEOPLE ATTEND MEET AT LIVERMORE

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie White and their daughter Marguerite attended a meeting in Livermore of the managers of the Sprouse-Rietz company; twenty five persons were present.

An Oakland speaker talked on "The Four M's in Business, Money, Merchandise, Methods and Man." In the speaker's opinion merchandise will not be sold at much lower prices, but it will probably not be sold at higher prices for some time either.

Mrs. Rose Hanger Entertains Sunday School Class, Party

Mrs. Rose Hanger welcomed the members of her girls' Sunday School class at the Methodist church at a delightful party given at her home on Los Gatos road on St. Patrick's day.

After a delicious dinner, whose menu, table decorations, and favors were Irish, the young guests spent a pleasant evening with jig-saw puzzles and games with a St. Patrick's day motif.

Guests of Mrs. Hanger were Madeline Byrnes, Dorothy Mills, Hazel McVea, Esther Sorenson, Yvonne Stubbe, Alice Birge, Betty Best, Alberta Lanz, Dorothea Willis, Miss Eva Mitchell, who is Sunday school superintendent, and Mrs. E. R. Kennedy who assisted Mrs. Hanger in entertaining the guests.

Mrs. Geo. Smith Hostess To Pundita Circle Wednesday

Mrs. George Smith, Jr., was the charming hostess of the Pundita circle last Wednesday afternoon in her home on Sunnyoaks avenue. Assisting her were Mrs. Wendell C. Thomas and Mrs. D. H. Cramer, who had charge of the program whose subject was "Industry."

Mrs. Louis Shelley, guest speaker of the afternoon, was presented by Mrs. Cramer and she gave a worthwhile paper on the sheep and wool industry in northern California. Mrs. Thomas read a paper on other California industries, emphasizing especially those of the Santa Clara valley, such as the fruit and canning industry, oil and quicksilver mining, stone quarries, and so on. She spoke of the importance of the Sunnyvale air base to northern California.

After the program the members were served tea at tables attractively decorated with spring blossoms and flowering shrubs.

Mrs. J. Jay Pardee will entertain the club at its next meeting, to be held April 12, at which time the subject of the program will be gardening. She will be assisted by Miss Helah Laird and Mrs. B. O. Curry, who will present the program.

Pres. Hersman Comments On Prune Campaign

Six outstanding achievements of the California prune industry movement are outlined in a statement Hugh Hersman, president of the United Prune Growers of California, will issue to the trade next week.

Reviewing progress of the first season's operations to date, President Hersman said:

"There was a carry-over of 36,000 tons, as of Sept. 1, 1932. The shortness of the current crop, however, partialy offset this heavy carry-over.

"Basic prices of prunes have increased. For example: 50-60 size prunes, which last year sold at a basis price of 3-4 cents, now sell at a basis price of 2 cents, and the staistical position of the crop indicates higher prices. This advance has ocurred in the face of a general decline in all commodity prices, particularly farm products.

"Movement of the crop has progressed satisfactorily. Domestic shipments, up to March 1, have been approximately 63,000 tons, which exceeds the tonnage shipped during the same period last season. Export shipments this season have been equal to the shipments of the 1931 season with the single exception of those in the month of October, 1932.

"An effective national advertising campaign for this crop year is now in full swing, with prospect of a campaign almost double the size for the 1933 crop year beginning early next fall.

"Dealer service men, working in important eastern markets, have assisted the trade with advertising displays, merchandise helps and selling ideas. Results in sales have been really remarkable, showing beyond doubt that California prunes, whenever they are properly advertised, displayed and merchandised, are one of the quickest moving and most profitable grocery items.

"Operations of the United in every phase have been carried out well under estimated costs.

"The United has reduced its total net obligations to $275,000 against which its own fruit conservatively valued at $2,300,000. This is a striking record, an enviable financial position for the United Prune Growers of California, assuring ready, adequate financing of the 1933 crop.

Couk Attacks League Opponents, Elective Courses

Exhibiting figures which he said prove that the departments of music, physical education, farm mechanics, and agriculture were too expensive for Campbell high school, O. B. Couk, member of the high school board of education, addressed an audience at a meeting of the local unit of the Citizen's League on Government and Taxation Tuesday night at the grammar school auditorium. The cost per pupil of these courses, Couk said, is excessively high.

Mort Vennum presided over the meeting and introduced those persons in the local trustee race whom the tax league endorses, including Miss Vina Lewis and J. A. Conner, candidates for the high school board, and Joseph Gomes and Fred Smith, candidates for the grammar school board. The other candidates, Mrs. Louis Shelley and J. B. Collins and W. C. Bohnett, were not present.

William Winants, 16-year-old high school student, gave an oration on the injustices of the present taxation system.

Couk, whose address occupied the greater part of the evening, made a somewhat biased and personal attack on the activities of the opponents of his league in the trustee race. He seemed to think businessmen not so well able to conduct school business as farmers, an he made sarcastic remarks concerning the caliber of local leaders.

Various assortments of figures were given by Mr. Couk. One set showed that if Campbell had issued bonds and build a new high school its condition would have been much more serious than it now is. Another set showed that the school board had suffered a loss on the property bought for the future school site, since the prunes thereupon have not yet been paid for.

That he was a friend of education, Couk emphasized, and said that, although his own children had not attended school for twenty years, he had the interests of the school at heart.

Rumors hinting that tax league trustees on the board will result in the breakdown of the high school district, Couk classed as ridiculous. But, he warned his audience, he needed support and if he did not get support in his activities on school issues, he'd resign from the board of trustees in another year.

The talk was a heated one, marked by uncomplimentary comments and veiled hints on local teachers, leaders and newspapers.

Current Comment

President Roosevelt's inaugural address has received general acclaim from the press and public regardless of politics. While general in tone, and offering no specific suggestions for legislation, it is natural to think that such suggestions will follow in due course of time. The one thing which impressed the country most of all was the spirit of leadership exhibited, the chief executive giving the impression that he is not afraid to take hold of the steering wheel and assume the responsibility of driving the national machine on the long and ardous road out of the depression.

To the legion of Americans in both parties who believe that the future of America lies within our own borders and not in sailing the uncharted seas of international diplomacy and intrigue, there was much in President's address to be commended. In part the President said:

"Through this program of action we address ourselves to putting our own national house in order and make income balance outgo. Our international trade relations though vastly important, are in point of time and necessity secondary to the establishment of a sound national economy. I favor as a practical policy the putting of first things first. I shall spare no effort to restore world trade by international economic readjustment, but the emergency at home cannot wait on that accomplishment.

"The basic thought that guides these specific means of national recovery is not narrowly nationalistic. It is the insistence as a first consideration, upon the interdependence of the various elements and parts of the United States—a recognition of the old and permanently important manifestation of the American spirit of the pioneer. It is the way to recovery. It is the immediate way. It is the strongest assurance that the recovery will endure."

Here is sound doctrine which every American can approve regardless of his politics. It is fundamentally true that there can be no world recovery until there is recovery in the United States. And what the people in our own country are interested in primarily is the recovery of the United States. This can only be done, as the President points out, by doing the first things first. This is another way of saying that we must first put our own house in order. When this is done the task of reviving world trade and the strengthening of the world financial structure will be found much easier than now seems possible. The United States furnishes the biggest market in the world. Ninety per cent of its wants are satisfied by home production. It is therefore essential that we restore our own finances and our domestic trade first.

When this is done, and it can be done, when the winds of depression have blown themselves out, the demand for goods in the United States will stimulate not only our own industries but the industries of the entire world. For it is to be remembered that, despite the cry about our protective tariff, just about half the goods that enter the United States come in duty free. That a return of prosperity here will stimulate our demand for foreign goods, especially those in the luxury and semi-luxury class, goes almost without saying.

Bachrodt Urges Grange Examine School Legislation

Taxpayers should watch carefully the proposed California legislative bills which affect the school systems, in the opinion of Walter Bachrodt, city superintendent of San Jose schools, who spoke to the Orchard City grange during its lecturer's hour.

Particularly offensive, according to Mr. Bachrodt, is the Assembly bill No. 897, which proposes to consolidate all the school districts in California under a few quite large districts. The consolidation will be compulsory and will result in many ridiculous and expensive arrangements, such as the transportation of school children from the top of Mt. Hamilton down to San Jose schools. Mr. Bachrodt also criticised the proposed law which will require all school trustee's budgets to be approved by the county supervisors, saying that supervisors not elected by districts should have no say in the school systems of those districts.

It is necessary to cut down school expenses, Mr. Bachrodt admitted, and he said that all the California school districts had recently cut their expenses to such an extent that they had saved the state millions of dollars. But he felt that the paring process was a duty of the trustees, who can choose whether to reduce teacher's salaries, the number of teachers, or the school services and who in making these choices will be governed by a desire to maintain the welfare of the community.

Mrs. E. K. Clendening presided over the lecturer's hour, in the absence of Mrs. Jessie McChesney. A special part of the evening's program was the felicitation of Joseph Bohnett, charter member of the Grange, who celebrated his 85th birthday last Sunday. A bouquet of flowers was given Mr. Bohnett by the Grange, and a rose bush by Horace Keesling. Mr. Keesling also presented him with birthday card which was signed by all the officers of the grange and all the members who were present Tuesday. Ladies of the home economics committee read appropriate birthday verses in honor of their beloved friend and neighbor. The closing song of the evening, "Love's Old Sweet Song," was chosen specially for Mr. Bohnett.

During the regular business meeting, presided over by Lawrence Hendricks, worthy master, Mrs. Charlotte Sutter was elected secretary of the organization, following the resignation of Mrs. George Husted. Harry Barnes, member of the state executive board of the grange, installed these new officers: Mrs. Sutter; Mark Purmort, overseer; and Mrs. Rose Hanger, Pomona.

Charles B. Hannah, Master of the Mt. Hamilton grange, who was among the visitors present, gave a short talk on the needs of the farmer. Harry Mitchell presented a paper on the expenses of the Santa Clara county school system today as compared with 1919, and stated that while enrollment has just doubled in these 14 years, the expenses of the schools have quadrupled.

A plant exchange, in charge of Mrs. M. F. Hughes and the ladies of the grange, followed the business meeting. A committee headed by Miss Mary Fablinger served refreshments late in the evening.

Sheriff Wm. Emig To Address P. T. A. Here Tuesday

Sheriff W. J. Emig of San Jose will speak at the regular meeting of the Campbell Grammar school Parent Teachers' association, to be held in the kindergarten room of the school next Tuesday afternoon, April 4, at 2:30 o'clock. His talk will be accompanied by a reel of pictures and slides, depicting his topic, "Safety."

Mrs. Harry Rediker will preside over the regular business meeting, hearing reports of committees and formulating plans for the card party which will be given April 21, as decided by the P. T. A. executive board last Friday.

GENASCI GIVES TIPS, PREVENTION OF GAS FIRES

of the natural gas which is burned

Knowledge of the characteristics in Campbell homes is important for householders and Ed Genasci, local fire chief, gives the following information, which he received from P. G. and E. officials.

The natural gas is composed of .1 per cent carbon dioxide, .1 per cent oxygen, 17.1 per cent ethane, and 82.7 per cent methane The carbon dioxide is non-explosive and stimulates the respiratory system. Over 1.4 per cent of it in the air causes a 50 per cent increase in the ventilation of the lungs. If the amount in the air is increased to 3 or 4 per cent, the human feels distress, and when there is 10 per cent carbon dioxide in the air any human is stupified.

Oxygen is not explosive and is essential in gas since it supports combustion. It is the main constituent in air, and is essential to life

Ethane and Methane are the explosives in natural gas but are not explosive when larger amounts of them are in the air, that is, any amount above about 14 per cent.

Natural gas requires at least ten cubic feet of air for the burning of one cubic foot of gas. Therefore natural gas can be easily extinguished by exclusion of oxygen. Raw natural gas has little effect on the human system because it has no carbon monoxide in it.

Very important, Mr. Genasci emphasizes, is a knowledge of how to treat escaping gas. If there is a possibility that escaping gas is filling a room electric light switches should not be touched. If they are on they should be left on, if off they should be left off. For turning lights on or off causes a spark which might ignite the explosive mixture of gas in the room. No switch should be operated until the building has been thoroughly ventilated.

Persons trying to fight gas fires should remember not to extinguish flames of burning gas until the gas has been turned off at the meter. Extinguishing a flame without turning the supply off merely allows allows gas to escape and explode if it mixes with the proper amount of air.

14th Observance Public Schools Week Set for April 24

San Francisco, March 29—Because of wide spread interest created in school budgets and school affairs generally through discussions of various measures now before the legislature at Sacramento, the fourteenth observance of public schools week, beginning April 24, is designed to afford citizens and taxpayers of California an exceptional first hand opportunity of judging for themselves on school affairs, according to a statement issued here today by State superintendent of Public Instruction Vierling Kersey.

Kersey's statement, made public the state committee on public schools week, declares that, "Public Schools Week offers a timely and exceptional opportunity for the people to become better acquainted with the work of the schools, to learn the important facts about the present crisis in education, and to formulate their opinions with regard to immediate steps which are necessary to the continued welfare of public instruction."

The American Legion, parent-teacher associations, chambers of commerce and other civic organizations annually join in the observance of the week, during which meetings are held at which modern educational methods are discussed, the public generally taking advantage of the week to make personal visits to their local schools.

Kersey's statement in full is as follows:

"The fourteenth annual observance of Public Schools Week will be held during the week commencing Monday, April 24, 1933. Public Schools Week originated in the crisis confronting education throughout the nation during 1919 and 1920. An even greater crisis confronts education today. The long continued economic depression has been the cause of severe retrenchments in school expenditures and drastic curtailments in school programs. Throughout the nation thousands of schools have been closed, and thousands of others have been forced to cut several months from the school term.

"As yet schools in California have not been closed for lack of funds. This danger threatens in the immediate future, however. Records of school revenues for the present year indicate very clearly that many districts have insufficient funds to operate schools for the last month of the present school term. A still larger number of districts will have no funds to operate schools for the first part of next school year beginning July 1, 1933, and will be obliged to remain closed until the first apportionment of state school funds in September or to operate on registered warrants carrying 6 per cent interest.

"The situation confronting education in California is a critical one. It is highly important that the people have adequate and authoritative information concerning their schools. The public schools are the people's schools. The welfare of education is a matter of primary concern to all citizens.

"Public Schools Week offers an opportunity for the people to become better acquainted with the work of the schools, to learn the important facts about the present crisis in education, and to formulate their opinions with regard to immediate steps which are necessary to insure the continued welfare of public education. School officials should bend every effort to aid the public in constructive study of educational problems.

"Much misunderstanding has arisen due to destructive criticism of the public schools based on inadequate knowledge and false information concerning actual conditions, and in certain instances, because of opposition to the institution of public eduation.

"Out of Public Schools Week should come an enlightened public opinion stregthened by a knowledge of facts about present conditions and united support of the purpose to keep our public schools free from harm."

Bills Recommended By Farm Committee

Sacramento, March, 22—Six bills designed to assist California's agriculture from the standpoint of standardization had been reported out March 10 by the assembly agricultural committee, with a "do pass" recommendation.

Perhaps the most important of these measures was that reducing the standardization tolerance from 20 per cent to 10 per cent, by count, for walnuts affected by insect injury. This means that, in the event the bill passes, walnuts below this ten per cent tolerance for insect injury will not be permitted in the regular marketing channels unless they can be reconditioned to meet these requirements. They can, however, be diverted into by-products after proper treatment. This bill was introduced by Assemblyman Edward Craig of Brea, Orange county.

Another "do pass" bill, introduced by Assemblyman James B. Utt of Tustin, Orange county, changes the maturity provisions for Oriental persimmons to 75 per cent orange or red color and 25 per cent yellowish green color at the time of picking. The present requirement is 100 per cent coloring after picking.

Required standardization of avocados would not be seriously affected by insect injury, mould or decay unless such injury covered 16 per cent or more of the individual avocado, accoroding to provisions of a "do pass" bill introduced by Assemblymen Utt and Craig.

A bill introduced by Assemblyman John P. Phillips of Banning, Riverside county, affects the standardization of dates by adding several additional defects to the quality provisions and by providing compulsory marketing requirements designating the country where grown, when the dates are displayed for sale in bulk. The bill also provides that steam processed dates be labeled "hydrated," or "steamed dates." It further reduces the tolerance allowed for defects.

Another bill carrying the "do pass" adds a new section to the agricultural code, setting forth additional regulations for the transportation or sale of commodities which are below the requirements of the code. This bill requires that a permit must be obtained from the agricultural commissioner in the county where these fruits, nuts or vegetables originate, to divert same for byproducts use. This permit is to be issued free of charge. The bill was introduced by Assemblyman Hobart R. Alter of Ontario.

The sixth bill carrying the "do pass" recommendation was also introduced by Assemblyman Craig and empowers the director of agriculture to designate color charts for certain standards and the composition of official sample of fruits, nuts or vegetables when being examined to determine whether such samples meet the requirements of the agricultural code.

SCIENTISTS HEAR LONDON LECTURER AT RECENT MEET

On a recent Thursday evening at the Christian Science church in Los Gatos a sizeable audience heard A. Hervey-Bathurst, C.S.B. lecture on "Christian Science: A Religion of Healing." Mr. Hervey-Bathurst is a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and comes from London, England.

His lecture, in part, follows:

"May I ask you to visualize for a moment that momentous scene, that epoch-marking occasion, when Paul, standing before King Agrippa, asked, 'Why should it be considered a thing incredible with you that God should raise the dead?' What an indication of understanding of the power, the omnipotence and omnipresence of God. Has God changed? Then what Paul indicated is as true now as it was then. This, Christian Science not only teaches, but demonstrates or proves.

It is not necessary for me to tell you that Christian Science heals. That fact is now recognized throughout the world, for men, women and children in every civilized country are being healed through the knowledge of the truth, taught and practised by the Founder of Christianity, and again revealed to this age by Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science and the author of its textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures.

"'Why should it be considered a thing incredible with you that God should raise the dead?' Christian Science today is perpetually voicing that same thought and is again asking mankind why it should be doubted that the healing of sin, sickness and death should still be possible through the recognition and the demonstration of the ever-present God and His irresistible power.

"The way in which Christian Science was discovered is so interesting by reason of its wonderful simplicity. Mrs. Eddy was suffering from the effects of an accident from which it was expected she would not recover. One day she begged to be left alone. Mrs. Eddy had always been a most earnest student of the Bible, and as was her custom she turned to that sacred volume and read the familiar passage in the ninth chapter of Matthew's gospel, which records the Master's healing of the man suffering from palsy. Jesus said unto him, 'Arise, take up thy bed and go unto thine house.' How many sick people, I wonder, have read that passage, but no one that we know of in all the centuries that have elapsed since that occurrence has had spiritual discernment enough to understand and accept the healing offered in that command—at least no such case is recorded. Mrs. Eddy, however, evidently discerned on that occasion the deep spiritual meaning of what the Master said. In other words she recognized the divine fact that man has dominion, or she discerned man's God-given heritage of freedom and dominion over all the earth, with the result that she rose at once from her sickbed. Having made this wonderful discovery Mrs. Eddy retired from the world for three years in order to work out or demonstrate the truth which had been revealed to her and which she realized it was her privilege and duty to share with mankind.

"Mrs. Eddy's discovery established the fact that the sick can still be healed in the way Jesus and his disciples taught and practised. I am sure that in the time at our disposal we shall see how this healing is not only a reasonable but a natural result of the understanding of the teaching of whom it was said, 'Never man spake like this man.'"
